

POPULAR PHOTOGRAPHER.

The illustrations in this pamphlet were made from Photographs by E. J. Potter, the popular photographer. Mr. Potter's studio and gallery are located at 13½ North Park street, where he has been doing business for over forty years past.

His work speaks for itself, and it is safe to say that no establishment, not even those in our larger cities, turns out better work than he. He makes everything in photography, crayons, water colors, pastels, enlargements of all kinds, flash-lights, etc., in that most difficult branch of photography—child-portraiture, too, he excels, and in his general portrait work, he has no superior, many of his poses being unique and "striking," and all of them pleasing. It was established in 1886. Besides being an expert in his profession, Mr. Potter is one of our most enterprising and progressive business men.

MANSFIELD'S PAVED STREETS.

Mansfield has thirty-three miles of paved streets, the road-bed being paved either with improved brick or asphalt. Along these streets are some of the most handsome and modern residences in Ohio. There is a generous rivalry displayed in home building and the result is that some of the residences are dreams of modern architecture. A large percentage of the working men and mechanics own their own homes; this has a beneficial effect and wholesome influence in any municipality as it speaks of the character of its citizens and insures a class of people who in the building up of their city will take an active interest in its developments and progress.

MISS MINNIE ADELLE MARTIN.

Miss Martin, who sang so acceptably at the Opera House meeting following the dedication of the Block House, is the daughter of Capt. T. B. Martin, of this city. Miss Martin began the study of voice with Mrs. Valetta Thelen, a well-known instructor. In 1898, Miss Martin attended Eureka College and took a post-graduate course in music. Later she went to Chicago and studied under Madame DeNorville and Prof. S. T. Gandell, both teachers of wide reputation. She then returned to Eureka, Ill., and taught two years in the conservatory of Eureka College.

Miss Martin has a dramatic soprano voice of wide range and sweetness. At this Opera House meeting she favored the audience with "Beloved Columbia."

MANSFIELD AS A RESIDENCE CITY.

At the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held Friday evening, January 25, 1907, Dr. Edward Remy spoke of Mansfield as a residence city, as follows:

Mansfield as a residence City was ably discussed by Dr. Edward Remy, who referred to it as a city situated like Rome, upon the hills, at an altitude of over 1,000 feet above the sea level, permitting the most excellent drainage and commanding the purest atmosphere. "In the midst of the beautiful and rugged scenery of Richland County," said the speaker, "Mansfield affords a most excellent place to enjoy a peaceful, quiet, natural home life.

"The county seat of Richland County and boasting a population of nearly 24,000 people, Mansfield occupies an area of over 3,000 acres, making it un-
